

The original structure is the design constraint which determines the new configuration of the entire building. Beams and columns are intertwined like a TARTAN in the space purged from its old functions. New volumes are inserted in the interweaving, some with temporary functions (offices, multipurpose rooms, workshops, mini fair) and some others with permanent functions (areas for kids and teens, multimedia library, wellness area, cinema, restaurant, art hotel). The volumes which have a temporary function are placed, in turn, in a flexible continuum space which can host at the same time exhibitions and activities involving authors and users interested in events, products or services hosted inside the building.
