Company profile

The Hollo brand is completely Made in Italy. It was born from the collaboration between Homecode, a Treviso-based manufacturer of furniture complements, and the artist Andrea Magnani. Hollo was established in 2011 and its concept combines basic furnitures with graphics designed by famous and emerging artists.

The Hollo concept involves an essential structure that can be 'dressed up' graphically, this means that Hollo perfectly suits every kind of space and home.

Hollo is utterly sustainable – from concept to design and distribution – because it optimizes the production process thanks to the fact that is always used the same structure. If the user decides to change the design they simply have to replace the doors without changing the whole structure.

Hollo collection is constantly enriched with new proposals by artists who wear the cabinets with their creativity.

Product

Hollo is a storage unit, which simply becomes a 'blank piece of paper' for international designers and artists who can have fun in transforming it with their own original graphics.

In our website you can choose from a broad range of designs that 'dress up' the four front doors of Hollo. Even after you have purchased the unit you can completely change it with a new design by simply replacing the four front doors.

Specifications
