

Parametric detailing is a technique that fluidly and efficiently unifies high-level problem setting with late-stage Shop Drawing development and fabrication – preserving pre-determined design criteria and intent. The specific implementation of this type of information – similar to direct-to-manufacturing – provides a non-volatile system of project communication between team members occupying global remote locations.

PARAMETRIC DETAILING