

PRESTIGE AND SIMPLICITY COME TOGETHER

Located in the Mont-Blanc region of Haute-Savoie, the village of Megève owes its name to its location between two rivers, derived from the Celtic words Mag (house) and Eva (water).

Megève immediately impresses visitors with its calm and timeless authenticity. A bewitching charm bathes the narrow streets that lead to the village square and the church steeple with its green bronze domes. A profusion of little shops and wooden facades conveys a warm conviviality.

Megève has preserved its classic Savoyard architectural heritage favouring the unique style of the traditional mountain village. You only need to open your door onto the village to discover its diversity and to fall under its spell.

Generally snow-covered and offering an exceptional panorama of the Alpine massif (Mont-Blanc, the Chamonix Aiguilles, the Warrens chain, the Aravis chain and Mont Charvin), the 1483-acre site can be enjoyed by visitors on skis, snowmobile, sledge or snow shoes. Or they may just admire the huskies or the polo players... or simply contemplate the snow-covered mountains from a table on one of the many terraces, like the one of l'Alpette Alt.1895.

Megève has something to offer in each of the four seasons. The majestic winter gives way to a wealth of discoveries in the summer, another chance to experience many memorable moments. In summer, one Megève event follows the next...exploring 150 Km of marked walking trails, springs and rivers, cultural treasures, little scenes of paradise with moss, waterfalls and white water, the freshness of mellow undergrowth and fragrant spruce forests.

Cloaked in orange and gold, the village of Megève puts on a brilliant show in autumn, with an incomparable atmosphere of sport and leisure. Take advantage of hiking, biking and horse-back riding in this amazing setting where nature shines as if on stage. Fall in Megève is when this authentic village shows its heritage and traditions, encouraging each visitor to find their own adventure. Megève in autumn is truly a magnificent way to welcome fall.

There's no need to look any further for the perfect escape: think, dream and breathe Megève and you could become a convert for life.
